COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The town crew has been working on roads and bridges this past week. Road repair and street sweeping have taken most of the time. The snow fence will be taken down in the near future.

There is a subject that has received a lot of attention lately on the state level that has a direct bearing on the local level. The Aid to Dependent Children (Mother's Aid) section of the state budget has been under attack by some legislators. There are currently 14 active ADC cases that the town of Bethel pays a percentage of the aid. This number might vary one or two cases more or less from time to time. The average monthly amount paid to these cases is $100.13 with a high of $171.00 and a low of $36.77 depending upon the number in the family and the amount of other income. The town of Bethel pays 18% of the cost to these ADC families with the state and federal government paying the other 82%.

I will not attempt to argue the pros or cons of the program. I know of cases where the aid is used to the best possible ends and I know of cases where there is waste and what I consider misuse.

The show will be the first step toward a fund for a Youth or Recreation Center for Bethel. The idea of starting such a fund has been discussed frequently in local organizations and it is hoped that this first volunteer show may stimulate a definite series of activities to raise money for this use.

There are already about thirty adults and twenty children involved in preparing this benefit. The General Director and choreographer is Mrs. Susan Farra and music and band direction is by Mrs. Edith Eypper.

Mrs. Albert Bean and Frank Vogt are coaching various sequences for the show, and featured will be the Locke Locke Mills Melodettes, and the well-known male quartet, the Balladeers.

LOCAL NAZARENE CHURCH FORMS WORK GROUP

The youth and adults of the local Church of the Nazarene have organized a work team known as the "Youth Builders and Financiers" which offers a variety of services to local people at very reasonable rates. Members of this group are "farming themselves out" in the interests of the Nazarene Sunday School, and all money received as a result of such work will be given to the the Church for the specific reason of enlarging the facilities of the Sunday School.

This being the season of spring cleaning, yard and lawn work, home and building repairs, etc., the "Youth Builders and Financiers" are prepared to offer the public a wide range of services including house cleaning, babysitting, and phone orders for baked goods by some of the women of the church.

Saturday car washes will be another service rendered by this group as soon as the weather permits.

These young people are eager to work for their church. Last Saturday morning they distributed advertising throughout Bethel with the hope that many community folk will respond and call on this team for work and services. Interested people will find an advertisement elsewhere in this paper which gives further details.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMA

(Burns)

The death this spring from burns of a prominent Chicago woman whose gown was ignited by a cigarette served as a tragic reminder of the fact that home accidents from fire always are close at hand.

It is estimated that 2,000 deaths a year in the United States are caused by clothing catching fire, and probably another 300,000 persons annually are burned severely enough from clothing aflame to require medical attention. Light weight, filmy garments are particularly susceptible to quick burning.

When clothing catches fire the most important factor is not to panic. Smother the flames as quickly as possible by rolling in a carpet or blanket. If nothing is immediately at hand, roll on the floor or ground. Running in panic around the house or yard merely fans the flames.

To help prevent accidental ignition of clothing, check your home carefully for potential fire hazards. Provide adequate guards for fireplaces and all open fires; guards that will prevent a flowing gown or robe from accidentally brushing into a flame. Use no flammable cleaning fluids. Hang clothes well away from stoves or fireplaces. See that curtains are are not placed so they could blow into flames.

Smoking habits are the cause of many fires in homes. Don't smoke in bed or when you are sleepy. Supply your home with plenty of ash trays, so that there is an ash tray close at hand anywhere in the house. Do not place ash trays on easily combustible, surfaces such as overstuffed furniture.

There are spray can mixtures available for flame-proofing cloth, and many home safety authorities recommend using sprays on curtains and drapes. Some recommend that the play clothing of small children be flame-proofed, particularly the light dresses of small girls.

First objectives of first aid care for burns are to prevent shock, prevent contamination and control pain.

For extensive heat burns, place the cleanest available cloth over the burned areas to exclude air, have the victim lie down with head and chest lower than the rest of the body, and, if the victim is conscious and can swallow, give him plenty of nonalcoholic liquids, particularly water. Call a physician immediately.

For lesser burns, such as a scorch from an electric iron, soak a sterile gauze pad or clean cloth in baking soda solution, place the pad over the burn and bandage loosely. If the skin is not broken, immerse burned part in clean, cold water to relieve pain.

All burns, except where the skin is reddened in only a small area, should be seen by a physician or a nurse. Estimating the depth of a burn requires professional skill and the burn may be deeper and more serious than it appears.

The best preparation for the future, is the present well seen to, and the last duty done. — George Macdonald.

RUMFORD MAN HEADS LOGGERS' ASSOCIATION

Harry Beach of Rumford was re-elected president of The Northeastern Loggers' Association at its annual meeting in Woodstock, Vt., on April 15. The meeting also included the 9th Annual Loggers' Congress and a Conference on Wood Product Development and Marketing.

Awards for Outstanding Service to Forestry were presented to Philip Coolidge of Bangor and Al Nutting who is Director of the Forestry School at the University of Maine. Mr. Beach also received an award for Outstanding Service to Forest Industry.

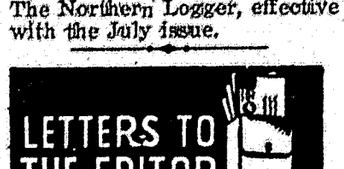
Several Maine men serve on the Association Board of Directors. These include: George Carlisle of Bangor, Philip Chadbourne of Bethel, Al Nutting and Henry Plummer of the University of Maine, Rand Stowell of Dixfield and Robert True of Cumberland Mills.

Senator George D. Aiken of Vermont was the speaker at the Annual Loggers' Banquet on April 16. His address indicated an intimate knowledge of forest and forest industry problems as a Vermont farmer and forest land owner. His years of experience in the U. S. Senate also gave him a broad perspective of forestry problems in the nation.

John Eaton of Rochester, Vt., and Richard N. Jorgensen of Upper Darby, Pa., were chosen as new directors. Several other members of the board were re-elected. The Board of Directors is made up of 27 men representing different phases of forestry and the forest industries. These men come from 10 states in the Northeastern quarter of the United States.

Several Awards were presented for outstanding service. These included: Outstanding Service to Forestry — Henry Baldwin, Hillsboro, N. H., Kenneth Barraclough, Durham, N. H., Philip Coolidge, Bangor, Al Nutting, Orono; Outstanding Service to Forest Industry — Harry Beach, Rumford; Best Use of Forest Products—Motor Inn Motel, Concord, N. H.; Best Utilization of Forest Products —Rutland Plywood Corp., Rutland, Vt.

Members of the Association voted to change the name of The Northeastern Logger to The Northern Logger, effective with the July issue.



April 15, 1963

To the Editor of the Bethel Citizen:

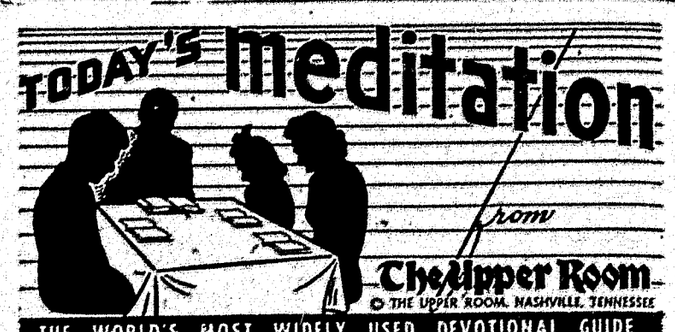
Dear Sir:

It was with great sorrow that we learned of the sudden death of Dr. Gilbert Rich. I knew him for only a comparatively short time, six years, but long enough to become acquainted with the treasure of the man. One would have to seek far and wide to find anybody with a more abiding affection for Bethel and its environs. His father came to Albany at the turn of the century and Dr. Rich spent the intervening summers at the present homestead. Last year he sent us a snapshot of our home which he had personally taken from Songo Pond in the summer of 1907. There was little that was presently recognizable except the barn and the contour of the land. The last time that we saw him was in August of 1962, a few days before he left Bethel for what was destined to be his final stay. He and Mrs. Rich rowed over in their boat and spent the evening with us. I am not the nocturn type, but I could sit by the hour to listen to him tell about his early experiences in Bethel. He was thoroughly familiar with every lake, road, landmark, and path within a radius of one hundred miles and more from Bethel. He was a veritable treasure chest of information about the growth and development of the Bethel area. He was on terms of friendship with scores of the older inhabitants of the area. He was ever ready with a helping hand and was a familiar figure at fund raising affairs in the area. Even after his retirement, he continued to have an intense interest in his profession, and he had expressed to me the hope of being able to do something to establish adequate and modern psychiatric facilities to help retarded children in Maine. He had a continuing concern about the problem.

Last summer when the Brown house was moved to Albany, the movers quite accidentally broke a large limb from a tree that had a unique shape. The tree had stood not too far from his home. Dr. Rich was unhappy about the incident up to the very last time that I saw him. He seemed to have burdened himself with the responsibility for the preservation of every tree and landmark in the area. Destruction of the landscape distressed him. He was most vocally happy when he could describe a piece of land that lay untouched by the ever-pressing needs of man. Since I myself cannot hammer a nail into the side of a barn, I always admired Dr. Rich's ability to make repairs and to rig up contraptions around his house which tended to lighten his physical burdens and those of Mrs. Rich.

However I shall always remember him most for the great and infectious love that he had for the village in which he had spent so many happy and fruitful summers. He never tired of speaking about it. He had expressed the hope that his home in Albany would be maintained as it is presently situated if he passed on. Perhaps he could not endure the thought of his loved ones ever forsaking Bethel. We shall miss him greatly on our summer visits to Bethel. He had become a part of our way of life and now that part has been wrenched away. To Mrs. Rich we express our heartfelt sorrow. Her loss is irreparable but we firmly hope that she will find it in her heart to spend future precious summer months among us in Albany. Her graciousness will do much to carry on the tradition of the Riches in Albany, so long cherished by her late husband.

Sincerely,
Mark E. Cymrot



Thursday, April 25:

Read Galatians 3:21-29

Ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. (Galatians 3:26.)

Years ago when a wealthy rancher died, a neighbor said to my father, "His children—selfish, wasteful, and ungrateful—are so unworthy to inherit his riches. They haven't earned a dime of his money."

"But they are his heirs," my father replied. "Worthiness doesn't count. An inheritance is bestowed, not earned."

No one through his own merit is good enough to become an heir of God. It is only through the grace of Jesus Christ that we may inherit salvation.

On the other hand, no one is so unworthy, so sinful, that he cannot accept Christ's salvation if he will believe.

As Paul wrote to the Colossians, God "hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son: in whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins." This is the inheritance Christ gives us, even eternal life.

PRAYER: Precious Lord, take our hands and lead us into the everlasting kingdom prepared by Thy loving Son our Redeemer. Help us joyously to tell others of this wonderful gift of eternal life, the inheritance of all who will believe. In Jesus' name. Amen.

THE STORY OF THE POPPY

Every year on the Saturday before Memorial Day millions of Americans wear little red poppies on their coats. Of course you know that the poppies are worn in memory of the men who lost their lives in the World Wars, but I wonder if you all know how the poppy came to be the Nation's memorial flower.

In the years of 1917 and 1918 hundreds and thousands of American boys fought on the soils of Europe to put an end to the horrible war. You all know that they did end the war, restoring peace to a war-torn world and bringing liberty to subjected people. But many months amid the continuos fighting caused many fine young men to lose their lives.

Another World War has now been fought, some of its battles in the same territory. Thousands of our young men made the supreme sacrifice of their lives for their country in this second great war and those little scarlet poppies, now as then, cover the earth where our young Americans lie.

The poppy has become the symbol of the dead—their memorial flower. It has become the sign that the high ideals for which these brave young men gave their lives still live and are honored. That is why we pin on the poppy when we pay tribute to our dead of all the wars. The poppy covers the soil in France beneath which many of them lie, and on Poppy Day we place the flower over our hearts, where the memory of the great sacrifice they made for our country is forever enshrined.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

MENDING FENCE

Good fences, the old axiom says, make good neighbors, but good fences are more than satisfactory boundaries. A farmer who has to stop cultivating on a beautiful June or July day and round up a bunch of foraging cows, knows that good fences also mean peace of mind.

Mending fence is a pleasant April task, and one that a 14-year-older much preferred to hauling out dressing and spreading it on sodden fields. Naturally, if a lad is blessed with sisters, fence mending is much more enjoyable when one is out of sight. Sisters who are self-appointed wardens of a boy's work habits can be a trial!

Fences, like humans, show the result of time and wear. Robert Frost wrote that there is something that doesn't like a wall, and in areas where stonewalls make patchwork quilt stitching in the countryside, frost-heaved rocks must be put back in place.

Wire fences and their posts have enemies also. Frost will heave the posts and time takes its toll of metal. Mending fence is the task of going over the boundaries and making repairs when necessary. Sometimes a barway needs to be replaced; sometimes a new gate is needed.

It is pleasant work on a sunny April day to run the boundaries of fields and pastures. A lad needs to check the woodchuck holes for fresh tracks; perhaps he will see that big black snake that likes to take the sun on a rock of the south slope. He needs to take a side trip to the brook to see if the big speckled trout is still in the swimming pool.

There are men today who look from office or factory windows into the blue and gold of a fourth month day, and think of the long-ago days on the farm when they spent pleasant hours mending fence.

SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS TOP $360,000 MONTHLY IN OXFORD CO.

Monthly old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits in Oxford County now top $360,000, John M. Beale, District Manager of social security in Lewiston, stated on releasing his annual county benefit data. The new monthly figure represents an increase of 8 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

The average monthly old-age retirement benefit at the start of this year was $76.19 for all States. In the State of Maine the average was $71.31 and in Oxford County $72.23.

Monthly benefits first became payable in January 1940, and they have continued without interruption for 23 years, accompanied by a steady growth in the number of beneficiaries. Beale noted that as of December 31, 1962, some 5800 Oxford Countians were collecting monthly payments. This number is 13% of the total population of the County at the last census.

Since the 1961 change in social security, an even larger number of people in Oxford County, he said, might be drawing social security benefits if they knew more about the law. Anyone who was told he hadn't worked enough to qualify for old-age payments, and hasn't rechecked this since the middle of 1961, would do well to contact his district office again, to see whether he can now qualify.

The following table shows the number and amount of each type of monthly payment paid in Oxford County, as of December 31, 1962:

1. Beneficiary Group; 2. Number of Beneficiaries; 3. Total of Payments Per Month.

1	2	3
Retired Worker	3340	$241,258
Wife or Husband	776	30,331
Widow or Widower	595	26,634
Mothers and Children	751	37,971
Disabled workers and dependents	335	20,015

Early Families in Upton

This is the third in a series of genealogies of early Upton families, up to 1892 when vital statistics were first recorded. Corrections would be appreciated and should be sent to the Citizen.

The Frost Family

Simeon Foster Frost, the eldest son of William Frost and Dolly Swett of Rumford, was born Aug. 8, 1818, in Rumford. He settled in Hanover, marrying Maria Abbott of Letter B on Dec. 31, 1841. In 1843 they moved to Letter B, clearing a farm on the Cambridge River adjoining the Enock Abbott house and mill, the only farm in that part of Letter B at that time. He built a one and one half story house and barn.

In 1860 he enlarged the house and named it the Lake House, which became a famous resort for sportsmen. He also took up a lot of land on the State Line on B Point which he cleared and built a barn for hay and grain.

He was the first petitioner for the incorporation of Upton in 1860, in 1862 was chosen captain of Company A of the Militia and served as selectman many times.

He was also a millwright and was one of three men who built and operated the steamboat Diamond, the first on the lake.
